Tips on Finding a 4-H Club

✔ Determine what 4-H projects your child is interested in learning more about.

✔ Contact the 4-H leader of the clubs in your area that fits your child’s interests.

✔ Ask the 4-H leader questions to ensure that this club is right for you and your child.

Example Questions you may want to ask…

- Does your club participate in the type of projects my child is interested in? (Specify the type of projects your child is interested in.)

- Are you comfortable working with children the age of my child? (Specify the age of your child.)

- When and does your club meet? (Make sure the time, date and location are comfortable with you and your child.)

- Does your club have dues or membership fees? (Some clubs charge dues to cover costs of supplies, insurance, etc.)

- Ask any other question you may have at this time?

✔ Plan to attend the next meeting of one or more of the 4-H clubs whose leaders you have spoken with and interest you and your child.

✔ Determine which club is the best fit for your child and enroll in that 4-H club.

✔ It is important to remember that youth can join more than one 4-H club or switch 4-H clubs as needed. It is recommended that youth do not switch 4-H clubs after May 1st of the current 4-H year.
