DESCRIPTION:
Real Colors is a fun, interactive workshop that will provide you with a better understanding of your personality type as well as insight into your friends’ personalities. This workshop will help you improve your communication, leadership, and team building skills. When you recognize personality characteristics you will discover what motivates people.

You will have the opportunity to put yourself in others’ shoes to see how their personality affects their views. In addition, you will learn what each “color” brings to a team and how working with each person’s strengths builds a stronger team.
