What is 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge?
The 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge (OAC) program uses the outdoors to help young people develop the life skills they need to become self-directing, contributing and productive members of society. Through a variety of outdoor activities the teens learn to deal with physically and mentally stressful situations that may occur in any life setting.

4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge helps young people develop a greater understanding, sensitivity, and appreciation for themselves and the natural environment. Teens (and adults!) also strengthen skills in communication, cooperation, organization and planning.

How do I find out more?
For more information about 4-H Youth Development, the 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge program and the 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge Leader Training Series, contact your county MSU Extension office or visit http://4h.msue.msu.edu/4h/outdoor_adventure_challenge.

Or, contact the 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge State Coordinator Nick Baumgart directly at 906-774-0363 or baumga75@anr.msu.edu.

Help young people develop:
• important life skills like problem-solving and teamwork
• positive character traits like leadership
• self-confidence and determination
• appreciation and enjoyment of the outdoors
• environmental stewardship

You will personally:
• develop the confidence needed to work with young people
• meet many interesting adults and teens from throughout the state
• attain a level of competency in many outdoor activities

Adults who receive the training are expected to work with young people in the 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge program.

“The secret of getting ahead is getting started.” — Mark Twain

“The leader training changed my life. I never knew how strong, confident and capable I was. I found my inner strength that I can now share with young people.” — Theresa, adult volunteer, St. Clair County
What are the training requirements and how soon can I get started?

You must be at least 16 to enroll in the training series, and at least 21 to become a certified 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge leader. After successfully completing each training component, you can begin working with youth at the level for which you've been trained if you also meet the CPR & Standard First Aid certification requirements.

Please note: 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge is a high-stress and physically demanding activity. If there is any question about your health, be sure to consult with your doctor before applying.

Level 1

Trainees receive an overview of all that 4-H OAC offers; learn day hike preparation, various outdoor skills and how to complete an activity plan.
Successful Level 1 trainees can take youth on day hikes only (no water activities). Also required are CPR & Standard First Aid certifications.

Level 2

Separate training is offered for each content area. Level 2 is NOT a pre-requisite to Level 3.

- Kayaking – August 11-13, 2017, at Little Bay DeNoc, Gladstone (U.P.)
- Flat-Water Canoeing – August 18-20, 2017, on the Manistee River near Kingsley
- Backpacking – September 22-24, 2017, Nordhouse Dunes Wilderness Area. This training includes an overnight solo experience to ensure competence before taking youth overnight in this content area
- Winter Camping – February 16-18, 2018, Pigeon River State Forest near Gaylord

Level 3

Separate training is offered for each content area. Level 2 is NOT a pre-requisite to Level 3.

- Rock Climbing – May 26-29, 2017 - This training includes an overnight solo experience to ensure competence before taking youth overnight in this content area.
- Swift-Water Canoeing – Offered as demanded by interest. Call for details.
- Caving – Suspended. Call for updated information or visit http://4h.msue.msu.edu/4h/outdoor_adventure_challenge
Completion of level 3 training is a two-step process:
1. Training will be held in conjunction with an instructor’s club outing so trainee can observe how to work with youth in this content area.
2. Training will be held in conjunction with an instructor’s club outing. Trainees practice leading youth in this content area.

Additional Requirements for Levels 2 & 3

Before conducting Level 2 and 3 outings with their 4-H club, trainees must also meet the requirement of an approved trip plan – either one plan for a trip of 3 or more days or two weekend trip plans.

For overnight 4-H OAC trips (levels 2 & 3), there must also be at least one 4-H OAC leader (the trainee or a different leader) who has wilderness first aid certification. CPR certification is also required.

What will the training cost?

Fees: There is a $50 fee for each training at all levels (1, 2 & 3) up to a maximum of $300 for each trainee. (Your county 4-H program may cover a portion of this cost.)

Fees are due two weeks before each training. Fees cover instructional materials, meeting facilities, group equipment costs and mileage for instructors. Each participant is responsible for the cost of his or her own food, personal equipment, and transportation to and from the training sites. Bring your own Personal Flotation Device (PFD) to canoeing and kayaking if you can.

How do I enroll?

To enroll for 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge (OAC) leader training, you must:
1. Complete the MSU Extension Volunteer Selection Process through your county MSU Extension office.
2. Complete the 4-H Outdoor Adventure Challenge Leader Training Enrollment Form available online at http://4h.msue.msu.edu/4h/outdoor_adventure_challenge or from Nick Baumgart, 4-H OAC Coordinator at 906-774-0363 or baumga75@anr.msu.edu.
3. Mail the enrollment form and fee (check payable to Michigan State University) as indicated on the form. Deadlines and fees vary for each training.

The deadline for enrollment and Level 1 (orientation) sign up is May 1, 2017.
