1. Animals are often portrayed in photos, paintings, movies, poetry, stories, or other art media. Research and identify at least three examples in any genre where your animal species has been depicted.

2. Successful salespeople use a technique called an “elevator speech” to pitch their product. What is an elevator speech? Write out the elevator speech you would use to sell your animal to a potential customer.

3. Most animals communicate both verbally and nonverbally with each other and in interaction with humans and their surrounding environment. Name three nonverbal communication cues your animal can give you. Describe the situation and how your animal reacts.
