Each year, approximately 36 percent of all births in Michigan are to unmarried parents. In Saginaw County, almost 42 percent of births are to unmarried parents. In Oakland County, 20 percent of births countywide are to unmarried women, whereas 50 percent of births in the city of Pontiac are to unmarried women. In both counties, paternity is established in 55 to 65 percent of the births.

Research shows that paternity establishment is an important step toward securing child support payments for the care of the child, but may not lead to an involved father or a positive co-parenting relationship between the parents. This curriculum has five goals to address this situation:

1. To prepare unmarried parents to set goals to promote and create a healthy future for their children.

2. To help unmarried parents establish a positive co-parenting relationship that enables them to work together in raising their child.

3. To ensure the on-going and sustained involvement of both parents, especially the father, whenever possible in their children’s lives.

4. To encourage the on-going payment of child support and provision of other forms of support by the non-custodial parent.

5. To prepare unmarried parents to make healthy decisions (with their child’s best interests in mind) about their romantic and couple relationships.

This curriculum is made up of a series of 24 lessons of about 60 minutes in length. The program can be offered in a one-on-one, couple, or small group format. The curriculum is designed so that the facilitator can tailor the materials to the needs and interests of the participants and group size. The table below describes the lesson topics, objectives, and the primary goals each lesson is designed to meet.
