Deployment involves moving an individual or military unit within the country or to another country. A mission or task might include training, supporting communities during times of disaster, helping foreign countries or fighting in a war. The many changes happening with each departure and return create difficulties for both service members and their families.

PRE-DEPLOYMENT ACTIVITIES
- Make your own wishing tree. You can use a tree branch from outside, a small artificial tree or an indoor plant. If you don’t have room for an actual tree, consider drawing a tree on a piece of paper and hanging it on a wall. Cut out strips of paper in a favorite color so you can easily write down wishes and attach them to the tree.
- Talk about what to expect at the deployment ceremony. Let your child know what will happen and how they are expected to behave. Talk with your child about the upcoming deployment and what they might expect while their service member is gone.

DURING-DEPLOYMENT ACTIVITIES
- Each day, write down a wish for your service member and place it on your wishing tree. Remember what Amanda wished for her dad to use as ideas for your wishes to get you started.
- Write letters and send pictures to your service member while they are gone. Talk about what you are doing and all the things that are happening at home.

POST-DEPLOYMENT ACTIVITIES
- Take a picture of the family with the wishing tree. Read through the wishing tree wishes together as a family. Talk about why you made some of the wishes.
- Spend time together as a family. Go for a walk, play outside, eat a special treat together. Take time to talk about all the little things that happen during the day as a family.
