Broccoli

Michigan-grown broccoli is available July through October.

Broccoli chosen for freezing is processed at its peak ripeness, a time when it is most nutrient packed and most delicious.

Frozen broccoli may be even more healthful than some of the fresh produce sold in grocery stores since the product will degrade over time.

Americans typically eat only one-third of the recommended daily intake (three servings instead of nine) of fruits and vegetables due to availability and cost. Preserving broccoli and other fruits and vegetables by freezing them when they are at their nutritional peak allows people to use them throughout the year.
